Educational Resources:

In an effort to provide parents and students with electronic resources to maintain learning during these challenging times, the teachers and administrators have developed a list of interactive websites. To access these learning materials, please visit the Wyomissing Area School District website by clicking on the following link:

I know this time is challenging for all students, employees and residents. We have more questions than answers as we follow the direction of our federal, state and local leaders. Despite this uncertainty, I have been highly impressed with the care and compassion demonstrated by our Spartan Community. Residents are sharing resources, posting helpful information, looking out for neighbors who may be at risk, and giving positive support to assist all in need. Our students are learning great lessons from these examples and will use this knowledge to help others moving forward. Thank you to all Spartan employees and community members for your effort, cooperation and positive actions.

Sincerely,

Robert Scoboria
WASD Superintendent
